

LeanMail

The biggest game-changer since the invention of email

Enhanced Outlook Software with Lean Training

Email overload can be a productivity problem that affects everyone in the workplace, including even the smartest and most organized employees. LeanMail however offers a solution that can help all team members gain full control over their inboxes, regardless of their personality type. In just a matter of minutes, LeanMail can help your teams achieve a waste-free streamlined email management system that improves productivity and reduces stress.

Trusted by the
Fortune 500

The Challenge

- A significant portion of a worker's day is consumed by email, with at least 23% being unproductive.
- This inefficiency leads to lost customers, missed opportunities, and delayed responses.
- Despite the use of MS Teams and Slack, email volume grows by 3.5% each year.
- Without comprehensive email management strategies, handling email remains an endless task.

The Solution

LeanMail stands out for its deceptively simple and practical approach to email management. Unlike other solutions that demand a complete revamp of your process and a daunting learning curve, LeanMail seamlessly melds with Outlook. This integration allows users to harness Outlook's existing functionalities, enhancing them with added features like automations, efficient workflows, and templated views that are otherwise unattainable.

The genius of LeanMail lies in its ability to transform Outlook into a smarter, Lean-aligned tool without the usual complexity. Its user-friendly design ensures a smooth learning experience, allowing for quick adaptation and immediate productivity gains. This simplicity, coupled with the sophisticated technology underpinning LeanMail, unlocks a level of productivity that is otherwise impossible, significantly reducing stress and boosting efficiency.

Book a call

More info

Sonia L. Glubisz Crifling
Microsoft

"I never lose mails and the important emails are taken care of first."

"By prioritizing in a more structured way, I am better able to plan my day and feel a lot less stressed by my inbox."

In a Nutshell

- No more forgotten to-do's
- No more need for reminders
- No long searches for emails
- No more folders in folders in folders...
- No more marking read mails as unread
- Working according to your priorities instead of "last in, first out."
- Reduce volume by 80% in many cases

Susanne Fog Nøttrup - Sanofi Aventis

"I have a total overview over my e-mail and I know which ones I need to take action on".

